

The Greenhorns is a grassroots non-profit with the mission to recruit, support, and promote young farmers in America.

The Greenhorns is a 50-minute documentary film, completed after almost 3 years in production, that explores the lives of America's young farming community- its spirit, practices, and needs. It is the filmmakers' hope that by broadcasting the stories and voices of these young farmers, we can build the case for those considering a career in agriculture- to embolden them, to entice them, and to recruit them into farming.
